Plot for French Revolution Bared

PARIS, June 30 (AP)—Interior Minister Edouard Depreux announced today the discovery of a widespread plot by a norganization known as the Black Maquis to overthrow the French Republic and set up a military dictatorship.

Depreux said Gen. Guillaudot, inspector-general of the French gendarmerie; Maj. Andre Loustauneau-Lacau, a Rightist resistance leader who before the war acknowledged that he was a member of the anti-Republican Cagoulauds (hooded ones) and other officers and civilians had been arrested.

A reliable source said earlier that four French generals and several civilians had been implicated.

Depreux told a news conference that whole units of the French army might have been involved.

He said first details of the clandestine organization of former right wing resistance leaders, monarchists and Vichy collaborators became known to French police forces late in 1946 from police informers.

Through undercover investigation Depreux continued, police uncovered numerous details.

He said the Black Maquis had drawn up a complete "blue plan" for first filling Frenchmen with fear of a Communist putsch and then stepping in to set up a provisional directorate of military leaders, patterned along totalitarian lines. The Maquis were French underground fighters during the war.

Depreux held a long conference this morning with Premier Ramadier concerning the purported conspiracy.

French press agency dispatches from Rennes, in Brittany, named M. De Vulpien, 47, editor of the weekly France Vivante and president of a veteran's organization, as among those arrested, together with Marc Jacquot, a wine merchant of Montigny, and the recorder of the court at Lamballe, in Brittany, identified only as Rault.

From documents uncovered during a secret investigation which has been going on since May, an interior ministry official said, it was learned that the plotters planned to carry out their coup some time this month.

He declined to disclose the names of any of those arrested except M. De Vulpien.

Most of those jailed in connection with the reported plot were arrested in Brittany, where the principle ramifications were found, the interior ministry informant said. There were links, however, he declared, with extreme rightist circles in Paris.

All sources agreed that there was no connection between the plotters and Gen. De Gaulle's recently organized rally of the French people (RPF).

Several caches of arms were reported to have been discovered, but the movement was said to have consisted of isolated operations.

The news agency—the government-operated Agence Française de Presse—declared "all elements of the investigation are not yet known."

The agency asserted, however, the "soul of the plot" reportedly was a former officer and friend of ex-Marshall Henri Philippe Petain, and several other military personalities were implicated.

Petaín, chief of state of the Vichy government during the German occupation, was tried and sentenced to death as a traitor in 1945, but his sentence later was commuted to life imprisonment. He now is confined at the Isle de Yeu.

St. Louis Area Faces New Flood Threat

ST. LOUIS, June 30 (AP)—After climbing to its highest peak here in 103 years the Mississippi dropped slightly today but U. S. Army engineers warned the battle for three critical levees in the area was far from over with another crest pouring down from the mouth of the Missouri river.

A brief earthquake last night brought the threat of breaks to water-soaked barriers holding back the river from thousands of acres of rich farmland on the Illinois side but the engineers said no levees were reported damaged.

The river reached 39.25 feet, then fell .05 of a foot, but engineers said the drop was probably a temporary one. It was predicted the Mississippi would climb to 39.5 today—36 of a foot over a previous high in 1944. The all-time record is 41.3 in 1844.

At least 1000 persons were homeless in the St. Louis area.

Prout purchased the volume for a trifle and it turned out to be the marriage agreement between Dutch Queen Wilhelmina's parents, recording arrangements between William II of the House of Orange and Princess Adelaide Emma Wilhelmina Therese of Waldeck and Pyrmont Dec. 7, 1878.

MOST REV. JOHN J. WRIGHT
Consecrated Auxiliary Bishop of Boston Today

Fr. Wright at 37 Consecrated Bishop

The Most Rev. John J. Wright, D. D., was consecrated the seventh auxiliary bishop of the Archdiocese of Boston today by Abp. Richard J. Cushing in a solemn, two-hour ceremony at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross.

Prelates from all parts of the country and monsignori, priests and members of religious orders throughout the archdiocese attended as the 37-year-old clergyman, youngest ever chosen to hold the high office in Boston, was elevated to the Bishopric.

Abp. Cushing was consecrator of the former Mattapan youth who had been his secretary. Assisting as co-consecrators were the Most Rev. Ralph L. Hayes, bishop of Davenport, Ia., and Most Rev. James L. Connolly, coadjutor bishop of the Fall River diocese.

As his motto the new bishop chose "Resonare Christum (To Be the Echo of Christ)" from a passage by Paulinus, fourth century bishop of Nola, and it was on this thought that the Rev. Gerald G. Walsh, S. J., preached the consecration sermon.

Fr. Walsh, editor of Thought and former professor at the Gregorian University, where Bishop Wright studied for seven years, declared the most exultant moment of the consecration ceremony came when the archbishop sang the Te Deum, the composition of another fourth century bishop and companion of Paulinus Nicetas of Remesiana.

"In no heart here will the great song of thanksgiving and petition echo quite so deeply as in the heart of Bishop Wright himself," said Fr. Walsh.

"Paulinus and Nicetas lived in the fourth century and were bishops who believed that it is good and pleasing to God to be not only saints but likewise, poets, scholars and friends."

"Paulinus lived at Nola in Campania while Nicetas, his friend, was a hard-working, apostolic bishop among the snowclad mountains of what is now Yugoslavia. Periodically, he came to Rome to visit the tomb of St. Peter and then the two friends would rest at Nola."

"It was during these hours of holy but human friendship that Nicetas would hum the melody of a new hymn, the Te Deum."

"And when at last he came to leave, Paulinus would send along a farewell song in the lovely Sapphic meter of a Latin ode. One of these farewell songs remains and from it Bishop Wright has taken his splendid motto, 'Resonare Christum.'"

"It is the motto of a Bishop in love with clarity and truth. It is the motto of a Bishop who understood the symbolic meaning of his mitre. It is the motto of a Bishop who not only received but has been filled with the Holy Spirit."

He commended the new Bishop for choosing as his day of consecration the date on which the Church commemorates St. Paul.

The ceremony, he said, was unforgettable for all, but especially so for the Bishop's older friends who had known him from childhood when, "even then, marked out as an apostle of clarity and truth," he was terrible to the enemies of truth.

It was an unforgettable moment, he said, "for that strong father and sweet mother who gave and still give their greatest gift to God."

The actual consecration ceremony took place between the Gradual and the Gospel when the Bishop-elect was led before Abp. Cushing's foldstool and prostrated himself as the choir sang the Litany of the Saints.

At its conclusion, the Bishop-elect knelt before the Consecrator who laid the open book of the Gospels upon his neck and shoulders. The Consecrator and his assistants then touched with both hands the head of the Bishop-elect.

The head of the Bishop-elect was bound with a long cloth and the Consecrator then laid aside his ring and gloves, put on the ring again and received the gremial, or apron, from the ministers.

He then anointed the head of the Bishop-elect with holy oil. A long strip of cloth was placed on the neck of the Bishop-elect and he knelt before the Archbishop, who anointed the hands and palms. The newly consecrated Bishop then placed both hands on the cloth hanging from his neck.

Abp. Cushing then blessed the pastoral staff and handed it to the new Bishop, who received it before the altar.

R. I. Girl, 5, Found Dead In Cesspool

WARWICK, R. I., June 30.—While an extended search by State and local police and firemen using a plane and blood-hounds was under way for Jeannette Estia, 5, who disappeared from a neighbor's yard Saturday night, the child's body was found early today in a cesspool less than 20 feet from the yard.

The wooden cover had been partially moved and police believe the child fell into the pool after moving the lid. Officials continued investigation of the death pending an autopsy report by Medical Examiner Dr. Rocco Abbate.

Searchers had passed the cesspool many times since the child disappeared. Shortly after 1 a. m., Lt. Wilbur Fielder and Patrolman Daniel Turbitt of the Warwick police found the body lying face down in the well.

For two nights the search for the missing tot had been pushed. Firemen, using grappling irons, dragged a waterfront cove.

A plane from the nearby State airport at Hillsboro had circled overhead at low altitude to aid the ground searchers.

The child had been left at the home of Alvin S. Lannon in the Oakland Beach section while her mother attended a party.

with passengers—seven soldiers and a war bride—while the Danish motorship Bolivia, a seven-foot gap in its bow, was radioing for help as the result of a collision between them. The Bolivia carries a crew of 30.

Three Coast Guard cutters and three planes were assigned to the position, two of the planes circling over a fogbound area where the ships were dead in the water, a third on the scene.

The third plane, carrying extra large life rafts, was equipped with jet-assistance takeoff power for emergency flights from the water.

The transport's master radioed his engine room was flooded.

From the Danish vessel came word it had taken seven feet of water. Neither captain reported injuries to those aboard.

Both vessels were rolling helplessly, although in moderate seas, near the principal shipping lane between New York and Europe. The heavy, low-lying fog, obscured them from the air-sea rescue planes except for brief glimpses.

The transport's skipper radioed his vessel had taken so much water the pressure in the hold was threatening to demolish bulkheads.

Racing toward the position were the cutters Hornbeam, Ingham, Spar and Firebush.

It was not expected the first rescue vessel, the Hornbeam, would reach the vessels much before 3 p. m., with the Spar arriving half an hour later.

Coast Guard officers said one of the planes might attempt a water landing to take off some of those in the life boats.

Word that the Bolivia master had ordered his ship abandoned was received shortly after the transport's crew and passengers took to the boats.

The transport was approaching New York from Europe, the Bolivia en route from New York to Copenhagen, when the collision occurred at 5 a. m.

The Army early requested the Coast Guard to take the soldiers and the lone woman off, whether by air-sea rescue or aboard a cutter.

The St. Albans Victory is a 7500-ton vessel, the Danish ship one of 3500 tons.

Fog began to lift a little late in the afternoon, with visibility reaching a mile to two miles.

In addition, Dalton told the House of Commons, he would ask Parliament for authority to put an import duty on motion pictures, if necessary.

Dalton said a severe shortage of dollars was developing in almost all parts of the world.

Curley Pardon Rests On Prison Doctors

As Mayor Curley began the fourth day of his confinement in federal jail at Danbury, Ct., with no change reported in his condition, word came from Washington that if Justice

Dept. officials are convinced after a checkup that the jail term would hasten his death, a recommendation for clemency will be rushed to President Truman.

At the Justice Dept. it was learned prison doctors have been directed to report on the mayor's condition immediately the tests they are making are concluded.

This report will be used by Pardon Atty. Daniel Lyons in making his recommendation to the President.

William Leahy, chief counsel for the mayor, and who defended him through the long litigation and two appeals to the U. S. Supreme Court, said last night it was common knowledge Mayor Curley has been a sick man for four years.

"As I told the court, I am sure the confinement in the Federal prison at Danbury, and the humiliation will terminate fatally for a man who is undoubtedly critically ill," Leahy stated.

"I asked them about it at the time Mayor Curley came here to make a final appeal to the trial judge."

"He is suffering with a complication of ailments, any of which may terminate fatally for a man of his age. Most serious of all is the fact there is every indication of threatened cerebral hemorrhage."

2 Gunmen Get $680 In Roxbury

Two armed men today terrorized 10 girl employees of the Standard Coat, Apron and Linen Service, Inc., Norfolk ave., Roxbury, snatched $680 in cash from the cashier's table and escaped in a sedan driven by a third man.

William Shute, 11, Shirley st., Roxbury, heard screams while he stood in a playground opposite the plant and saw the bandits running from the building to the escape car. He memorized the license number and gave it to police along with a good description of the car.

Ten minutes before the holdup one of the bandits asked Marguerite Gately, Redlands st., West Roxbury, an employee, where the shipping room was. She told police he appeared to be on legitimate business.

To get at the cash, being counted by Nellie Ryder, 50, Woodcliff st., Roxbury, the cashier, the gunman called "Joe" by his companion smashed a 2-by-3-foot reception office window with his gun and leaped through the opening.

"Joe" was described as fair, stocky, wearing a blue shirt and no hat. His accomplice wore a cap. The third man was unobserved.

At the urging of his companion who called "Hurry up, hurry up," Joe swept up the bills and leaped back through the opening. Both men then turned and ran as the employees stood at the end of the 35-foot long room. Marion Guida, 19, Dorchester, dropped to the floor when her co-workers screamed and crawled the distance on her hands and knees.

Thunder Showers To End Heat Wave

Relief from the warm spell entering its sixth day today was promised after sundown.

The weatherman said today's high would touch 88—one point off yesterday's 89. But sharper relief was in sight after dark. Thunder showers late this afternoon and evening are expected to break the warm front and make way for cooler air sweeping in from the northwest.

By 9:30 a. m. the mercury had climbed to 74, comfortable enough in itself. But the humidity went its own way—up to a discomfiting 87 per cent.

Meanwhile, New England counted 17 dead over the weekend from drowning, heat prostration and auto accidents.

Two Ruthless Red Queens Pave Balkan Path for Stalin

By MARY VAN RENNSLAER THAYER

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

Behind Stalin's iron curtain sit enthroned two middle-aged women spinning the web of death and tyranny more ruthlessly than the notorious femmes fatales of the French revolution.

They are Ana Pauker, Red Queen of Romania and Tsola Dragoicheva, Red Queen of Bulgaria.

Each is secretary general of the Communist Party in her country, a position equivalent to that held by Stalin in Moscow.

If you want to know what type of character the Soviet revolution spawns and what happens to the ordinary human emotions such as love, friendship, kindness, consideration—you should know the story of these two women who have risen to the top of the European revolutionary hierarchy.

I have met them both.

TSOLA DRAGOICHEVA

I first heard of Tsola when a group of intellectual friends in Sofia (some of whom have now been purged) were telling me about the humanitarian laws of old Bulgaria and how a woman about to give birth could escape execution.

Tsola escaped hanging in such a manner.

She had been convicted of bombing the magnificent St. Nedelja Cathedral, historic religious landmark in Sofia.

The explosion blew the edifice sky high, killed 150 notables and injured 300.

King Boris, the Communist target, escaped because he arrived late.

The defense dragged the trial out inordinately, giving Tsola time to persuade the prison guard to seduce her.

After her sentence was pronounced, she calmly informed authorities of her delicate condition. Her sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

A year later, a new government took over in Bulgaria, amnesties were granted. Tsola walked out of prison—a free woman, to plot some more.

Tsola was born of poor parents. She was pretty and she was smart. She became a teacher in an elementary school before embracing Communism.

Shortly after release in the bombing of St. Nedelja, she became involved in another criminal conspiracy and fled to Russia.

She was sentenced to death in absentia. But it did not prevent

ANA PAUKER
Red Queen of Romania

her from smuggling herself back into Bulgaria.

Arrested again, she escaped literally by shooting it out with the police.

In 1941, she returned again and busied herself underground, forming the nucleus of a Communist organization for the Russians to take over when their armies marched into Bulgaria.

Once the Soviet-backed Communists assumed power, Tsola started out as a Red queen. Together with her close friend, Minister of Interior Uggoff (who mangles his black hair every morning) a purge of landowners was launched.

Tsola has six separate houses. She sleeps in them alternately, fearing assassination.

During our interview, I remarked: "In America, we cannot understand how anyone can be executed because of a political opinion."

Tsola peered at me with disdain. "Oh, America," she snapped, putting all her contempt and loathing in these two words.

ANA PAUKER

I learned about Ana Pauker, Red Queen of Romania, when I inquired in Bucharest as to who was occupying the beautiful home of Magda Lupescu, the favorite of ex-King Carol.

I was informed it was Ana Pauker.

But unlike Lupescu, who clung to her man through all the vicissitudes of fortune and ideologies, Ana made short shrift of her legitimate husband when they differed on Soviet policies.

Because he clung to some beliefs of the Trotsky faction, she turned him over the NKVD, who promptly executed him. Ana did not shed a tear.

Ana's emergence into the Communist upper strata took place in a similar manner to that of her Bulgarian counterpart. She helped bomb the Parliament building in Bucharest.

Her trial was one of the most sensational in Balkan history. It became a stage for world Communist propaganda. She was sentenced to 15 years imprisonment.

She had served ten years behind bars when she was exchanged for a top-flight Romanian politician who had fallen into Russian hands. A Soviet gunboat came to fetch her and guns boomed almost as in royal salute.

Ana Pauker was born in extremely modest circumstances. She became a school teacher and married into a well-to-do bourgeois family, then turned fanatically Communist.

Before the bombing of Parliament, Ana participated in all the underground plotting of the Communists against King Carol. Her astute mind, her sharpness of intrigue, her capacity for terror, made her a natural leader.

In August 1944, on the day when King Michael ousted the pro-Nazi dictator Antonescu and swung Romania to the Allies, a Soviet plane flew Ana and two Russian-trained Romanian Communists to Bucharest.

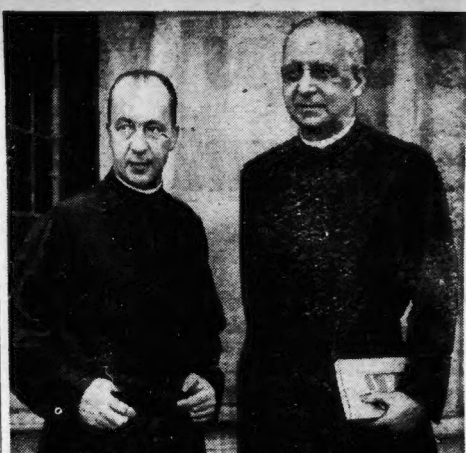

They set up a Soviet commissariat. Within six months, the path was smoothed for Soviet Vice-Commissar Vishinskiy, Molotov's crafty deputy, to fly to Bucharest and install the puppet government.

Since then the purge has been liquidating all democratic elements in Romania. Ana supervises the interrogations.

When I met Ana she appeared outwardly the essence of respectability. She wore no jewelry and a simple black dress.

But her face gave her away. A grey, shingle bob swung forward over her ears. No powder or lipstick blurred the craggy chin and beaky nose. Her small grey eyes glistened into me.

These sharp, cruel, dagger eyes hid nothing.

Hope for Marshall Aid Plan Fades

PARIS, June 30 (AP)—The possibility Britain, France and Russia might agree upon common action on the Marshall aid-Europe program faded rapidly today as talks between the foreign ministers of the three nations entered a "critical stage."

A showdown was predicted when Foreign Sec. Bevin, Foreign Minister Bidault and Foreign Minister Molotov meet in an attempt to reconcile their differences.

The gulf between their views was emphasized yesterday when Russia, in a surprise announcement, declared her opposition to any "all-embracing" economic program for Europe.

The announcement, broadcast from Moscow by the official Tass News Agency, asserted the sole purpose of the conference was to decide the amount of financial aid needed from America and whether such aid could be obtained under the Marshall plan.

Treasury Department experts began to inquire about the source of the fantastic sums squandered in New York and Los Angeles nightclubs and other gay extravaganzas by Virginia Hill, the fabulous playgirl in whose Beverly Hills home the gangster was killed.

In addition to a thorough audit of Siegel's tangled books, Internal Revenue agents are expected to comb through the returns and accounts of others mentioned as "protectors" of the exotic Miss Hill.

At conservative estimates, Virginia spent beyond $200,000 a year. Since sums of this size are usually derived from earnings in the 94 per cent bracket, it was said Miss Hill's annual income might be in excess of $3,000,000.

But if her lavish display of wealth came to her in the form of gifts from another, Uncle Sam wants to know if the donor filed tax returns of that magnitude.

Virginia was plentifully supplied from a steady source, as indicated by the fact that during her brief romances with others, she was far from a gold digger: on the contrary, she embarrassed her boy friends by sending them costly gifts.

Last year, this reporter introduced Virginia, then a brunette, to Carl Laemmle, Jr., one of the wealthiest bachelors in the country. Laemmle fell hard and the two were seen together for months, after which time Carl carried a blazing torch.

Investigators also began to show interest in Bugsy's tie-up with Movie and theatrical unions. He was an intimate of Willie Bioff and George Brown, convicted union heads, and was supposed to have his fingers in the crazy Hollywood movie-union set up after the two went to jail for extortion.

This reporter recalls, when he wrote some stories about the underworld, he was advised by a theatrical agent to lay off.

Hollywood Labor Rackets Drive Movies to New York

By LOUIS REID

(Copyright, 1947, New York Journal-American)

NEW YORK, June 30—America's leading motion picture producers are transferring a large part of their activity to New York City because of "Labor racketeering" in Hollywood studios, it was learned authoritatively today.

Jurisdictional overlapping of various unions in the construction and handling of studio sets has made costs of film-making so high that the only redress, it was stated, is curtailment of West Coast production.

Roughly, 10 per cent of picture production, affecting, it was estimated, 100,000 persons, will be centered in New York City in the next few months. Further expansion is expected.

A local leader of the powerful International Allied Theatrical Stage Employees Union predicted that eventually more than 50 per cent of picture production will be housed here.

Mayor O'Dwyer is alert to New York's new opportunity as a film-producing center. A city co-ordinator who will have charge of clearing the necessary permits covering shooting of film in various locations.

Many municipal departments are now involved. For street shots a street-fair permit, requiring endorsement of the police, housing and water supply departments as well as the borough president, has to be obtained. Interior filming has to have the approval of the fire department.

One film spokesman declared that "It took the organized greed of labor racketeers in Hollywood studios to wake us up to New York's all too-obvious advantages."

"Why try to reconstruct Fifth Avenue and Broadway and other famous thoroughfares in Hollywood when we can stay right here and film them? Great bridges, mammoth covered piers, the big liners, world-famous buildings are right here."

Boy, 17, Arraigned in Stab Death of Mothers Escort

NEW BEDFORD, June 30—Sobbing that he did it to keep his home from being broken up, 17-year-old Louis L. Vincent was led into District Court today to face a murder charge in the stabbing of Anterio Burgo, 26, of Acushnet.

The youth, eldest of three Vincent children and known to his neighbors in the Bay Village project as quiet and well behaved, allegedly stabbed Burgo with a fish-filleting knife when he found Burgo with his mother in an auto parked outside the Vincent home.

Mrs. Vincent, 36, told police Burgo was just a friend of the family. Her husband, Quentiro, 50, was in the house at the time of the stabbing.

The boy, under questioning, allegedly told police he felt he must break up the friendship between his mother and Burgo or it would lead to a disrupted home for himself and two younger children.

He told, according to police, of coming home about midnight and asking his father if his mother had returned.

When the father replied that he hadn't come in yet, Louis went out again, had some coffee at a restaurant and, upon his return, found his mother and Burgo in an automobile parked in front of the project.

Louis asked his mother to go into the house, police said, but Burgo objected and in the ensuing argument the youth was punched by the older man. Then, according to the story, Louis rushed into the house, came out again with the knife and, in a continuation of the quarrel, stabbed Burgo.

Police said Mrs. Vincent ran into the house screaming, and when Louis followed and asked his aunt, Mrs. Alice Pinto, to call a doctor. Instead, the victim was rushed to a physician's home, but the physician immediately sent him to St. Luke's Hospital, where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

According to police, when they questioned young Vincent, who had never been in trouble before, he readily admitted the quarrel and the stabbing, declaring: "I stabbed the . . ."

Eldest of three children, he assertedly added that he had repeatedly warned Burgo, called "Jerry," to keep away from his mother.

Shoes Help Identify Barrel Murder Victim

PHILADELPHIA, June 30 (AP)—Traced by a pair of orthopedic shoes, a 50-year-old unmarried bookkeeper was identified as the victim in Philadelphia's "barrel murder"—but police remained mystified today as to who strangled the woman and stuffed her body into a 50-gallon oil drum. Relatives identified the body as that of Margaret C. Dougherty, missing since May 6.

Pork Soars 78 Pc. in Year, Beef 62 Pc.

CHICAGO, June 30 (AP)—On this first anniversary of the end of Federal price controls, pork on the dinner table costs 78 per cent more than it did a year ago, beef and veal 62 per cent more.

Other food, clothing, and living costs in general also have undergone sharp rises, trade and government figures show. Within the year many prices zoomed to record peaks, topping the highs of the 1919-20 postwar period.

Market and retail supplies are higher in many lines, but farm supplies of livestock are lower than a year ago and cold storage stocks of many foods are lower.

Such commodities as steel, oil and lumber, still lag far behind demand requirements.

With 1926 prices as a base average of 100, the Associated Press wholesale price index Friday was 175.64. A year ago the figure was 122.28. This represents an increase of 43.6 per cent in the year. The highest was reached in March at 184.32.

A compilation by the Federal Bureau of Labor Statistics, shows that for May, the most recent calculation available, this index was at 155.8 on a 1935-39 base average of 100. Throughout the war period up to a year ago the index had advanced 33.3 points. In the ensuing year it went up 22.5 points.

All cost of living items included in the index averaged 16.9 per cent above last June, with major items like food 28.8 per cent higher, clothing 17.3, and household furnishings 16.3.

Trade groups assert the various indices are unrealistic because, they say, these compute prices during the OPA period on the basis of ceilings when prices in "black markets" were above ceilings.

Mass Sedition Case Tossed Out

WASHINGTON, June 30 (INS)—The United States Court of Appeals today threw out of court the scaled mass sedition case involving more than 30 defendants and blasted the Justice Department for "lack of due diligence."

The court upheld an earlier court ruling by Chief Justice Bolitha Laws of the District Court, under which the indictments were dismissed last November.

The trial was halted nearly three years ago when the presiding jurist, the then Chief Justice Eichler, died of a heart attack.

Among the defendants were Lawrence Dennis, George Sylvester Viereck, George E. Deatherage, Prescott Bennett, William Dudley Pelley and Hans Diehl.

Threaten Yugoslavian Break With Vatican

BELGRADE, June 28 (Delayed) (AP)—The Communist newspaper Borba—whose editorials are often forerunners of official action—suggested today the Yugoslav government break relations with the Vatican if the "campaign of slanders against Yugoslavia" continues.

The editorial described as slanderous articles in the semi-official Vatican paper L'Osservatore Romano, in which Borba said it was stated no religious freedom existed in Yugoslavia and 400,000 dependents of church charity and welfare activity had been deprived of aid by the Yugoslav government.

Will the 4th of July be "Labor Day" for you ?...

Lots of things could go wrong to spoil that wonderful weekend trip you've planned. Big things... like tire or engine trouble. Little things... like windshield wiper failure during a summer storm. Troublesome things... like a burned-out headlight. Upsetting things... like the wrong road without a good road map.

Why not let your nearby Esso Dealer keep the fun in your Fourth with a thorough car-check? He knows what your car needs for hot weather performance. He'll inspect... lubricate... and put it in top-notch running shape for the big 3-day weekend or that vacation trip you're starting.

JUST A WORD OF ADVICE—don't wait till Thursday to do it. You can avoid the last-minute rush by taking the car to your Esso Dealer's now... today. While you're there, get a free, accurate Esso Road Map of the roads you plan to travel.

AND ONE OTHER SUGGESTION... have your Esso Dealer put in fresh, long-lasting Esso Motor Oil—it's unexcelled. Then fill 'er up with powerful

Esso Extra Gasoline and you'll be off to a lively start... a great holiday weekend—and remember when you're at the wheel that CAREFUL-DRIVING PAYS!

Your Esso Dealer has the New ATLAS Tire

See today's big tire value—the husky new ATLAS, with the road-proved Grip-Safe tread! Have worn tires replaced before that trip with this long-mileage beauty—a great road performer that will add enjoyment and extra safety to your summer driving.

ONLY ESSO DEALERS sell the ATLAS Tire, backed by a liberal make-good warranty that is good at 38,000 Dealers on the road throughout the United States and Canada! In our honest opinion, there's no better tire value than ATLAS!

Ships Named to Celebrate N. E.'s John Paul Jones Day

Double observance of July 4, Independence Day, and July 6, the 200th anniversary of America's great Revolutionary naval hero, John Paul Jones, will be celebrated on 62 Navy vessels in New England coastal ports, joining with more than 400 in other parts throughout the country, with visitors welcome aboard during open house ceremonies in a three-day celebration.

In Boston, at the Naval Shipyard in Charlestown, the ships welcoming visitors will include the frigate USS Constitution, sea-plane tender Albemarle, light cruiser Providence, destroyer escorts R. I. Paine and Greenwood, and destroyers Gharen and Greene.

At Gloucester the submarine USS Piper will hold open house for visitors as at South Boston will the transports Dartmouth, New Kent and Schmitt and the leading ship dock Colonial. At Newburyport will be the minesweeper Terror and at Provincetown the minesweeper Peregrine.

Principal exercises will be held on Sunday at the Charlestown yard, and in addition to open house on the vessels will be a display of air power by more than 100 planes from the naval air station at Quonset, R. I. The famed frigate Constitution has been selected as scene of chief of formalities because of her similarity to the type of vessel commanded by John Paul Jones during naval victories of the Revolution.

HOLLYWOOD, June 30—The most surprising marital rift in Hollywood, and I must say, the most unexpected one, is that of Edward Arnold and his wife of 18 years, the former Olive Emerson, concert singer.
The Arnolds have been living apart for three weeks, but not a word was permitted to leak out about their troubles until after Eddie's daughter, Jane, was married to Eugene Ebright III. Mrs. Arnold was at the big church wedding, but no announcement of any trouble in their household was admitted until after the ceremony, so that Jane's happiness would not be marred.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Arnold are active in local musical circles. He is a past president of the Screen Actors Guild and has been a leader in cultural and philanthropic movements as well as a frequent speaker at patriotic rallies.
The Arnolds were considered ideally mated, for both were prominent in all local outstanding musical events.

Eddie, who is one of Hollywood's best known character actors, recently completed a prominent role in "The Hucksters" with Clark Gable. He was formerly wed to Harriet Marshall, by whom he has three children, and was divorced from her many years ago.
He and the present Mrs. Arnold were married Jan. 15, 1929.
No plans have been revealed for a divorce. Of course, there is always the chance of a reconciliamay come about.

Bikini Baby A-Bomb Likely To Be Standard Future Size

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, June 30 (AP)—The first Bikini bomb, exploded a year ago today (It was July 1 at Bikini), may be the size that will be used mostly to fight atomic wars of the future, instead of the greater bombs which scientists have been predicting.

This forecast is made for the War Department staff by Dr. R. E. Lapp, of the research and development division. The Bikini bomb was average for all five used to date. The prediction is based on the fact that most military targets will not need bigger atom bombs, coupled with the probability that greater bombs would be wasting money.

Along parallel lines today is a Navy viewpoint, written by R. Adm. W. S. Parsons, director of atomic defense, U. S. N., telling the difficulties in producing weapons more deadly than present bombs, whether these weapons are atomic powered or not.

Dr. Lapp gives two military reasons why present-size atom bombs are likely to be used. One is the fact two small bombs can do more damage than one bomb twice the size. This fact also has been pointed out in congressional testimony by scientists. Present bombs are the very smallest it is possible to make, but nevertheless are in a class completely different from anything previous.

The other reason for using these baby atom bombs is that one is enough for many of the sort of military targets now conceived. In fact, the present bomb may be too large for some military targets, such as a small-area strong point.

NEW TELEPHONE EQUIPMENT

bringing more and better service to New England

EVERY DAY NOW, we're installing the needed new equipment in our dial and manual offices which enables us to give telephone service to more people.

Although the job is far from finished—setting up central office equipment is slow, painstaking work—we're making headway. We're bringing $68,000,000 worth of plant and equipment to New England in 1947—putting everything we have into the job of cleaning up our waiting list and improving service for everyone.

Lloyd Heiress To Wed Again

Mrs. Angelica Lloyd MacDonald of Dartmouth and Boston, pretty divorcee daughter of the late millionaire publisher, Demarest Lloyd, plans to wed again shortly, it was disclosed today by her mother, Mrs. Douglas Parmenter of Dartmouth.

The blonde heiress has taken out a license in New York to marry William K. Russell of Playa del Rey, Cal., the mother revealed to friends.

Mrs. MacDonald's first marriage, to Peter MacDonald of Boston and Beverly Farms, an airline executive, began with a society wedding on Aug. 2, 1941, in St. Aiden's Chapel on the South Dartmouth estate of Alanson B. Houghton, former U. S. ambassador to Great Britain. It ended in an uncontested divorce last Dec. 16 in Bristol County Probate Court. The couple made an agreement at that time to share the custody of their two children.

Cambridge Boys Off for Summer

To New Hampshire—is vacation time ahead for these boys from the Margaret Fuller House of Cambridge as they prepare to entrain from the North Station today for Camp Newton in Waterloo, N. H. With them is Mrs. Rita Reilly (rear, left) and Mrs. Catherine Call (rear, right), who came to see them off. Boys were accompanied by Counselor Al Greenwood.

THIS DEBT MUST BE PAID

SOMETHING MUST be done, and done quickly, to prevent an obstinate Congressional committee from shaming the country by depriving mutilated veterans of a benefit to which they are richly entitled.

The House Rules Committee, for months, has balked and procrastinated at an extension to the gift of free automobiles for legless veterans.

After June 30, the men who have applied for these cars and who are entitled to them as justly as those who have already received them will be simply "out of luck," as the Veterans Administration puts it.

In spite of widespread criticism, petitions and urgent pleas, the committee headed by Rep. Leo E. Allen of Illinois has refused to act.

Now the Veterans of Foreign Wars, many patriotic organizations and a group of Congressmen headed by Republican Chairman Edith Nourse Rogers and other party members of the House Veterans Committee have appealed directly to Speaker Martin.

Their representation to Mr. Allen and his committee have previously met with the stubborn and brusque answer, "Wait until next year."

Veterans Administration officials are working round the clock to process all applications so that as many veterans as possible will get cars before June 30.

BUT THERE IS NO CHANCE IN THE FEW HOURS OF GRACE REMAINING OF CLEARING THE 6901 APPLICATIONS STILL OUTSTANDING.

What is the reason for this obduracy of Mr. Allen and his committee?

It cannot be economy.

The cost of 6901 cars is trifling and minuscule compared to the millions and billions of dollars that are being spent on foreign aid and secondary domestic projects.

It cannot be failure to recognize a debt in equity.

A young man who has lost a leg, or both legs, defending his country cannot possibly be paid off with merely an automobile.

Such a reward is only the small change of a deep obligation.

There is no earthly reason why Mr. Allen and his committee should not extend the period of the gift now, and every reason why it should NOT be delayed until next year.

As Mrs. Rogers says:

"These boys need help this year, not next."

And as the Veterans of Foreign Wars tell Mr. Martin, to withdraw the gift is "a cruel thing."

The country owes the debt.

The country has the money.

The House Rules Committee must realize that in extending the gift until all veterans entitled to it are taken care of they will be truly reflecting the sentiment of the people whom they represent.

Anything short of that is niggardly and near-sighted.

And it certainly is NOT a faithful picture of a great nation whose generosity and fairness are honored by the whole world.

MERITED PRAISE

GOVERNOR BRADFORD deserves great credit for signing the bill creating a special recess commission to devise ways and means of making Massachusetts a Community Property State.

The Senate and House are entitled to the same commendation for writing and passing the bill.

As a Community Property State, Massachusetts will give her wage-earning and investing population a Federal income tax reduction of as much as one hundred million dollars a year.

That money will stay in Massachusetts, where it can encourage industrial activity and stimulate employment.

It will not be siphoned away, as it has been for too many years, to finance Federal ventures in States which are competing with Massachusetts.

THERE ARE OVER 5,000,000 families in this country in which both the husband and wife bring home weekly pay checks. Many husbands turn their pay checks over to their wives. But how many career wives turn their pay checks over to their husbands? That I would like to know. Many career wives are inclined to refer to their pay checks as "my money" and their husband's pay check as "our money."

TOURIST — The "Bugsy" Sigal slaying in the California home of heiress Virginia Hill recalls that in the early 1930s Al Capone had a plan to muscle in on the Los Angeles rackets. Capone was met at the station in Los Angeles by Detective James "Lefty" James of the city's "Gangster Squad" and told to take the next train out of town. Capone took the train and as he stepped aboard for the quick return trip to Chicago snapped at Detective James: "This is a heluva way to treat a tourist."

BREAKFAST — A statistician states the average American eats 350 eggs a year. That puts me above the average. I have two eggs for breakfast daily. However, I am seriously considering making some changes. After this I am going to have codfish cakes for my Friday breakfast. I put this in especially for a kindly Baltimore subscriber who wrote, saying, in part: "Eddie, pay no attention to those dyspeptics who don't want to hear what you have for breakfast. My husband and I just love to hear about your breakfast. Especially my husband, who is about your size."

ASKING — Queries from clients. Q—Have you a reader in Hoboken, N. J.? A—Couldn't say. But I have twin Hackensack. Q—I challenge you to name the star of the first film version of "Anna Christie." A—I think it was Belle Bennett. Or do I lose the stogie? Q—How about giving us a name for our female Springer Spaniel pup who is to be trained to be a hunter? A—Call her Diana.

PASSING BY — Catherine Morelli, "Comph girl" policewoman of Manhattan . . . She patrols the subway to watch for pickpockets and excessively flirtatious males. During the war Catherine was in the Woman's Reserve of the U. S. Marine Corps. She is a college graduate . . . Darsie Darsie, Golf expert. Is also president of the Repeating Name Club. Mr. Darsie became a father for the first time after 16 years of marriage. During the first year he became a papa he carried with him 98 different snapshots of his first-born. This is the Pacific Coast record. The national record is held by Wayne Wright, the jockey, who in his first year as a daddy never carried less than 142 different snapshots of his offspring.

ASIDES — "The Man's Lawn-mower a Woman Can Push" is the slogan of a grass-cutting gadget now on the market. Sounds like a useful machine. Why not give your wife one for a wedding anniversary present? . . . Parola, star soccer football player from Turin, Italy, was offered a fancy contract to play for an English team. Signor Parola turned it down. When asked why he said: "England isn't fit to live in. In that country they have insufficient wine, very little bread and no spaghetti!"

BRIEFLY — An 18-year-old thoroughbred named Louis A. Miriam is still running and winning races. If this noble animal isn't the oldest thoroughbred in training, what horse is?

An Astor Fla. reader says I am wrong in saying a doughnut has no hole in it and has jelly in the center. "A doughnut has a hole in it and positively no jelly," says he. Imagine a fellow from Florida trying to tell me, who spent eight years in New England, what a doughnut is. I stick to my original claim.

DIVORCES — Many women successfully survive divorce and subsequently marry successfully. On the other hand a divorce brings out a wild streak in many females. One statistician claims that of women in prison divorce outnumber other females in the same age group by 7 to 1.

SIDELIGHT — A Torrance, Cal., subscriber states Tommy Cox of that town had his first haircut at the age of seven weeks. "Now let's hear from Brooklyn," says he.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate

NEW YORK, June 30—A cable item from Bayreuth, Germany, suggests a fair comparison between some of the followers of Adolf Hitler and some of the adherents of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

This little dispatch reported that the prosecution in the trial of Frau Winifred Wagner charged her with being one of Adolf Hitler's "most fanatical followers." Apparently that is a criminal charge and this defendant may be punished for fanaticism.

Immediately on the burial of Roosevelt at Hyde Park many of our newspapers, including even some papers of the political opposition, started to refer to this grave of a mortal man as a "shrine." That is fanaticism.

A shrine is the burial place of a sacred or holy person and Roosevelt certainly was neither except to the fanatics among his following.

Millions who voted for him, whether by deliberate choice or because they were thorough Democrats, knew he had great faults but voted for him nevertheless.

These Americans accord to his grave no more spiritual or holy significance than to the grave of any other person.

FANATICISM CONNOTES bigotry and intolerance of the opinions of others. Jim Farley has learned something about this since his memoirs began in Collier's.

Not only are his opinions condemned but he is not even given credit for truthfulness, although even Roosevelt, as long as he lived, and practically all the reputable men in public life in Jim's time, have acknowledged that truthfulness is his greatest virtue.

When he says that Mrs. Roosevelt told him that Franklin enjoyed himself only among his social equals, thus suggesting that snobbery which was apparent in all his dealings with the reporters, Jim tacitly invites Mrs. Roosevelt to deny it.

She does not deny that she said this.

AT THE CONVENTION of the Newspaper Guild in Sioux City, Allan S. Raynor, a vice-president of the CIO, said that we had not statesmen but "men of hate" in Congress, who "hate Roosevelt, hate the New Deal, hate labor."

Now, few of us who opposed Roosevelt hated him as furiously and unreasonably as we ourselves are hated by the persons who utter such political remarks. We are damned for hating Roosevelt regardless of our excellent reasons.

We hated the New Deal for good reasons both patriotic and moral, and the main reason was that it was too much like Hitlerism.

And, of course, none of these "men of hate" in Congress actually hates "labor." They hate the reptilian, the corrupt and treacherous exploiters and betrayers of labor who were given their powers by Roosevelt through the Wagner Act.

IN ANOTHER demonstration, Basil O'Connor, Roosevelt's old law partner and executor, made a speech at Warm Springs, Ga., in which he declared that Roosevelt created the foundation "which stands as a living memorial to his overflowing love for his fellow men and his tender sympathy for all who suffer from the afflictions to which mankind is heir. He wanted, particularly those less privileged with worldly goods than he, to have the benefit of the skills which brought him back . . ." O'Connor said:

This is just disgusting. Roosevelt started this foundation to make money, and he held up John J. Raskob for a private gift of a fortune to recoup his own private investment in Warm Springs before he would agree to leave the place and run for Governor in 1928.

John J. Raskob is still alive and he undoubtedly has the cancelled checks. An audit of the books of Warm Springs would prove or disprove his statements. That audit never presented.

Many parents of crippled children know, moreover, that when they tried to obtain for them "the benefit of the skills which brought him back," they found the prices impossibly high.

Others know that Roosevelt sold Warm Springs property by deeds which excluded Negroes perpetually from the ownership or use of such land.

THE CHARACTER of Roosevelt that is presented historically to the people of today and to the historians of the future is shockingly dishonest.

There are fanatics among his following who still regard him as a holy man and would suppress every shred of the truth about him. The wild ferocity of Hitler's idolators was never more savage and intolerant of truth and honest opinion.

The only difference is that they haven't the power to suppress and persecute.

And no statement of these facts has ever been presented in such bad taste as the remarks that commonly are uttered, and published, on the many occasions that are manufactured frequently throughout the calendar year to carry on politics in Roosevelt's name.

"Gee, just LOOK at those names! Ain't nature just wonderful?"

HOLLYWOOD, June 30—No wonder Bill Goetz is feeling pleased with himself. Wouldn't you? He's just bought "Harvey," Frank Fay's sensational stage play, for Universal-International. The tip from New York is that the all-time high price of a million dollars was paid.

This play, by Mary Chase, is history-making in the annals of the Broadway stage. It brought Frank Fay into fame in 1944 after everyone said he was through. It gave Joe E. Brown a new start, and it will introduce Jimmy Stewart to the stage this summer. I tried to pin Billy down to telling me which one of these gems would get the acting plum, but he says he doesn't know. Could be Jimmy Stewart, anyway.

John Beck is named as the producer, while Miss Chase herself will come here from Denver to assist in adapting her play to the screen.

DORÉ SCHARY took one look at "Memory of Love" and for the price of a nickel telephone call, signed Merle Oberon for one RKO movie a year. I haven't seen a reel of this picture (even though it was produced by Miss H. Parsons, a Merle Oberon friend of mine), but I hear that Merle and Dana Andrews are terrific.

Dore would probably like to get Dana, too, but he belongs half to 20th and half to Sam Goldwyn—and Dana ain't all Gail.

Merle's first for RKO is "Berlin Express," to be made partly in Germany, with the co-operation of the United States Army, and finished here. Jacques Tourneur will direct and Bert Granet is producer.

Needless to say, I am happy over the reports on "Memory of Love," not only on Harriet's account, but because it's another hit for my friend John Cromwell, the director.

ESTHER WILLIAMS gets in early Tuesday morning on the DC-6 in its initial flight from Mexico. With her will be Ben Gage, her husband, so you can see those reports that they are splitting are absolutely untrue.

Esther's next picture, by the way, is "Neptune's Daughter," for Jack Cummings, which she'll start very soon.

Her last picture, "Fiesta," was for Cummings and it's breaking every record. The MGM publicity boys did a sensational job on "Fiesta." There's Fiesta powder and Fiesta this and that—and even the flight is called Fiesta.

THERE'S A VERY strong possibility Hope Hampton may become Barbara Hutton's sister-in-law. Hope is going everywhere with Youka Troubetzkoy, brother of Count Igor Troubetzkoy. Barbara's husband, Youka, is big, blond and handsome, and while Hope hasn't as many millions as Barbara, she has enough to keep the wolf from ever hanging around the door. Jules Brulatour left her plenty of money.

During all the years Hope was married to Jules, who was twice her age, she was a devoted wife, and there's no reason why she shouldn't remarry. She's still a very attractive woman.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Kay Williams and her rich bridegroom, Adolph Spreckels, can relax. Macoco, Kay's Argentine-born ex-husband, who sued her for $35,000 of the return of gifts he made to her, has withdrawn his suit, which was scheduled to come up Aug. 24.

Over the long distance telephone Macoco told me, "I have my daughter with me in New York and I don't want all the publicity for her." Very wise of him, I think.

George Burns, usually the sweetest guy in the world, is so stuck up and strutting these days, he's becoming impossible. The cause of George's unbearable conceit is that his 11-year-old son, Ronnie, is up for two important roles at Warners.

His old man's only comment is, "I told you so!"

For sometime, George has been spreading the word (at the top of his lungs) that Ronnie "had something." The kid made a record, it was heard by agent Al Kingston, who hied out with it to Warners.

Now Ronnie is a leading candidate for the boy in "Christopher Blake" and another movie, "Footlights."

Very sensible of Charlie Einfield to change the ending of "The Other Love," the Barbara Stanwyck picture. In the original ending the girl dies of tuberculosis. In this day and age tuberculosis is curable, and besides, with all the trouble in the world, who wants to see a story end in death?

Charlie discovered when the picture was shown in New York that people walked away feeling blue and despondent. This is the first time I've known of a picture being called back and an ending changed after it was already shown. Charlie says he will let the audience make up its own mind about what happens to the heroine.

Donald Nelson is now in Mexico talking to President Aleman about accepting the post of coordinator of Mexican business and industry. It's a job similar to the one he held as head of the War Production Board in this country.

If Nelson accepts, he will still remain as head of the Society of Independent Motion Picture producers in Hollywood. I don't know how he'll manage it, but I reckon he'll commute between Mexico City and Hollywood. In these days of fast flying, it takes only six hours.

I wonder if Jimmy Cagney will actually make "A Lion Is in the Streets," by Adrian Locke Langley? The novel is supposedly the story of Huey Long, widely publicized Southern politician who was shot to death.

The reason Jimmy is hesitating is because if Huey Long's family doesn't give him a clearance, it would be too dangerous. Talk is that Huey Long's wife and family were incensed over the book and threatened suit if the movie was put on the screen.

WASHINGTON, June 30—Senators will sometimes debate for days over a "whereas" in an amendment to an amendment in a bill amending a previous amendment to disconnect a horse trough in the District of Columbia. Then they will turn right around and pass something of staggering importance in a jiffy.

The other day they passed the naval appropriations bill, calling for expenditure of $3,312,000,000, in exactly 58 minutes.

The capitol lightning calculator, Jim Preston, figured this was approximately dough at the rate of more than $57,000,000 a minute.

I MAY SAY I am pretty disappointed. Under the Presidential succession bill there is no provision for me becoming President even if all our big shots are wiped out and the Russians are down in the lobby.

Under the new setup, if the President and Vice-President give up the ghost, the big job goes to the Speaker of the

Jane Wyman

Soon as Jane Wyman was able, she telephoned Ronald Reagan not to worry, she was all right. Sympathy goes to them in the death of their prematurely born daughter, Ronnie, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, is coming along nicely, now.

On July 10 Dore Scharly will be guest of honor at the luncheon of the One-World committee. They honor a distinguished guest each month. Darryl Zanuck was Hollywood's guest last year.

Again the talk is current that Gail Russell and Guy Madison are reading an elopement. Congratulations to the Norman Siegel on the arrival of a baby girl born in Cleveland. Papa is a former newspaper man, now with Paramount.

And speaking of pretty 16-year-old daughters, Darryl Zanuck arrived home from Honolulu Thursday, and there was a surprise for her. Her father had a new car waiting for her 16th birthday, which is in August. The whole family had to take a ride in the car right away.

Sympathy goes to Walter Huston in the loss of his brother Eric, who died suddenly in Montreal.

Jean Peters, 20th's new star, is hobbling around on a badly sprained right ankle after falling down stairs.

You can look for the marriage of Virginia Mayo and Michael O'Shea any day now.

Frances Marion leaves for New York shortly to confer with Anita Loos on the play they are writing for ZaSu Pitts. Frances will also discuss with Wednesday Doran her book, "The Sower," which they are bringing out. It's about early California.

John Mills, British actor, and his playwright wife, Mary Hayley Bell, arrive on the Queen Elizabeth tomorrow.

House, currently a Republican by the name of Joe Martin. Actually Mr. Martin is only removed because we seem to be clean out of a Vice-President.

Next in line is the president pro tempore of the Senate, currently another Republican named Vandenberg. Then in order: Secretary of State, Secretary of the Treasury, Secretary of War, Attorney General, Postmaster General, Secretary of the Navy, Secretary of the Interior, Secretary of Agriculture, Secretary of Commerce, Secretary of Labor.

You will note that all these eligibles are concentrated in Washington. Personally, I feel this is a bit shortsighted. A bomb dropped on the District of Columbia might get them all—and then Congress would have to pass another bill all over again.

I feel we should have a few reserve heirs to the throne hidden away in remote parts of the country, and I do not mean Wallace out in Iowa. That's a jerk, son.

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MUSINGS: With Lucille Ball opening tonight at Marblehead in "Dream Girl," with Jane Pickens starring in a new Charles Gaynor revue "After Hours" at the Cohasset Town Hall and with Constance

Bennett making her summer theater debut at Dennis in "Over 21," the Massachusetts branch of what Variety calls the "citronella circuit" lacks nothing in glamor, at least, in the season's inaugural... Now if the girls can only act... Sons of their lovely sisters in Hollywood have tormented the Misses Ball and Bennett, no doubt, with warnings based on their own experiences in sustaining a three-act play through an entire performance... It is slightly different from working on a studio stage where one full minute of playable celluloid is recognized as the normal grist of a full day's shooting.

We are willing to risk a small wager that Miss Ball comes through her ordeal acceptably... Her allure is more powerful, if possible, at close hand than in shadow on the screen.

MORE MUSINGS: BECAUSE one of the surest "surethings" of the current racing season just managed to stagger over the wire a disappointing third on Saturday, a veteran "bridge-jumper" required medical attention and has been advised by his physician to forego further dabblings on "surethings to show"... A "bridge-jumper" is a horse player who gambles a large sum of money on an outstanding favorite to place third or better... but who bets the horse only in the show spot... This particular "b. j." had been enjoying a fairly good streak and his Saturday wager on the 3-year-old filly Van Orman represented $7000 in previous profits. Mel Van Orman was backed down to 2-5 to win, in the five-horse sub-feature race... But the distance proved too far for this excellent sprinter and she managed to beat but two horses... In the slight delay before Mel Van Orman's number was flashed, the "bridge-jumper" collapsed... The good news that he had won $700 instead of losing $7000 added partly as a restorative... But the tremulous plunger seemed happy to take advice to leave the track—after he collected.

TWO GREATER BOSTON boys who outgrew their local origins to make the big time in popular music are coupled in a current photograph recording, and fans of either Eddie Duchin or Buddy Clark should be well pleased at the merger of their talents... Eddie plays Buddy's accompaniment for "Je Vous Aime" and "After Graduation Day."

THE SUMMER WEATHER and the really hot Boston Braves are unexpectedly nice surprises to come home to... But there's a charming little spot named Acapulco in Mexico which can be recommended heartily if you can abide such food as tortillas, frijoles or tamales... Or if you have 10 or 15 pesos (American) to spend for a real steak.

NEW YORK, June 30—I wonder if Helen Morgan's life story ever will be filmed, if it could be done with reasonable fidelity to the actual biography, it would make an exciting, unusual, wonderful and tragic movie, but the chances are it will be

Helen Morgan prettied and candied or not made at all. One facet of the picture—that could be already has been dimmed by Ida Lupino's recent Warner Brothers film "The Man I Love," which played the nation from coast to coast featuring a background of all the most famous and dearly loved Morgan tunes sung by some anonymous dub.

A famous beauty who has been chasing a screen actor all over the country has been put in a sanitarium for shock treatment and observation. Among other odd actions, she gave away a $60,000 diamond brooch to a stranger... Horace Scumdlapp is back in the Broadway area looking at musical scripts. If he finds the right one he'll produce a show starring his wife Carole Landis... bombing of California for fear too many fellow travelers in the movie colony might be hit. So it might be wise to put Gov. Warren high up on the succession list.

The move to have the speaker of the House next to the V. P. in line of succession, originated with President Truman himself. Of course a Democrat named Sam Rayburn just happened to be speaker at the time.

I hope and trust Mr. Truman will look well to his health. Think of his embarrassment should he kick off and be replaced immediately by a Republican!

AFTER STAYING UP day and night for nearly 30 hours as principal blusterer in the big filibuster, Sen. Wayne Morse, of Oregon, did not go home to bed, but went directly to the Arlington horse show where one of his steeds took a prize.

ONE WHO TOOK a keen spectator's interest in the filibuster was Rep. William Jennings Bryan, D., of South Carolina, oddly enough a Democrat. After listening for hours to the marathon oratory he said it reminded him of the time he was a member of his state legislature.

"We had a stale senator," he recounted, "who was a terrible windbag. When the legislature was in session every day passed that he didn't get up and shoot off his trap on something."

"We got so tired of the big blabbermouth we decided to take action. We hired a bum to sit among the spectators."

"The senator was hitting his big high in empty oration when the bum suddenly pulled a big horse pistol from his pocket. 'Caesar had his Brutus!' screamed the bum, aiming the artillery. 'Lincoln had his Booth! McKinley had his Colgate! and now, by God, it's your turn!'"

"And blasted away with a load of blanks!" Rep. Dorn added: "The senator fled shrieking and it was nearly a week before he showed himself again. From then on he seemed to have lost his taste for oratory."

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

THE FACT THAT ALMOST as many Democrats voted to override the President's veto as voted to sustain him is evidence not so much of a split party as of weak and faltering leadership. Mr. Truman miscalculated.

He assumed that because he was sustained, on a party basis, on the tax veto, he would be sustained, on a party basis, on the Taft-Hartley Bill veto. He assumed that Democrats would not wish to strengthen the stature of Sen. Robert A. Taft, one of the two probable Republicans for the presidency.

Taft proved his ability, his statesmanship, and the breadth of his capacity for leadership in the management of the Taft-Hartley Bill. He avoided forcing members of his own party to accept his private views; he sought and obtained a national program. He did not impose his pre-eminence upon others; rather he permitted Senators Ives and Morse to battle out a bill which lives fully supported and Morse could oppose only by an exhibition of shallowness.

The bill that finally appeared was satisfactory to 20 Democrats, among them the principal leaders of that party.

It was a masterful achievement in congressional management on a major issue. Taft himself was never in doubt that the Senate would override the veto. It is even possible that Morse's recalcitrance prevented one or two Democrats from changing their votes.

THERE AGAIN Taft showed excellent leadership. He was ready to let the filibusterers talk for a week. Every time Senators Pepper, Taylor and Morse talked they distressed the Democrats more than the Republicans. They were so strictly representative of the extreme group in the CIO that Senators were ashamed for the dignity of their body.

With few exceptions, the southern Democrats voted to override the veto, ignoring the pleas of the President and Senator Barkley because the issue was not as between political parties but over the fundamental American principle that no man or group of men can be above the law.

THAT TAFT was able to convince Democrats to ignore the fact that he is a presidential candidate is a tribute to the respect in which his colleagues in the Senate hold him.

This is undoubtedly due to the fact that it is generally recognized that Taft is less a candidate than a Senator, less a candidate than an American. Perhaps few persons in this era of cheap and vulgar politics will accept this appraisal of a public man, but Taft's associates in the Senate know and understand his character and his purpose.

ROBERT TAFT'S great value in the Senate is his objectivity, which amounts almost to impersonality. From the standpoint of personal politics, this characteristic is a liability, for to the public he seems cold and austere. Some of his associates and opponents feel, at times, that that objectivity results in irresponsibility to persons.

In a word, he will in a group produce an argument that gives the impression of reporting what might appear to be a betrayal of confidence. That criticism leaves Taft cold.

HIS ASSUMPTION is that if a man takes a position, why should he be ashamed of it; why should he hide behind the phrase, "This is off the record?" Besides, unless all the facts are on the table, how can a correct appraisal be made? Nevertheless, some of his colleagues get sore when Taft blurts out, "You said so and so," and he makes it stand.

Others accept his utter truthfulness as his characteristic and act accordingly. To many, it is refreshing to have a man in his position who walks a straight path. Taft comes by his personality from a long experience in public life which goes back to his childhood.

He was with his father when he was Philippines Commissioner, Secretary of War, President, and Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. He was old enough to have seen the Taft-Theodore Roosevelt fight. He served under Herbert Hoover in the intricate diplomacy of feeding and relief during World War I.

He has seen politics in high places and in low—and comes out of it an adept with lofty principles and fine moral standards. His leadership is a refreshing oasis.

Policeman Kills Wife, Mistaken for Robber

KANKAKEE, Ill., June 30 (AP) —Mrs. Helen Bjick, 28, mother of two small children, was shot to death in her home. Police Chief Daniel Bergan said she was killed by her husband, who mistook her for a burglar.

Broiled Lamb Chops Offer Excellent Meal for Guests

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

AN INFORMAL dinner party for a small, intimate group is one of the very nicest ways to entertain. And why hesitate to give dinner parties just because you don't have extra help? Remember, a simple meal is often more appealing than an elaborate one, especially in the summer.

Broiled lamb chops are a favorite choice of meat for a company meal; but to give an added touch of elegance, try a combination grill. It's so easy to cook other foods in the broiler along with the chops. Bacon curls and bananas will make the meal more satisfying, and also serve to "dress up" the platter.

MENU

Lamb Chop Grill with
Bananas and Bacon Curls
Boiled New Potatoes
Green Peas
Pascal Celery
Hot Rolls Butter or Margarine
Mint Jelly
Fresh Pineapple Coffee
Cookies

LAMB CHOP GRILL

4 loin lamb chops
3 slices of bacon (or more)
3 medium bananas
Lemon juice
Salt and pepper

Have lamb chops cut about 1 inch thick. Cut bacon slices in half and roll each half-slice, fastening with a toothpick. Peel bananas, cut in halves lengthwise, and dip in lemon juice.

Set oven regulator for broiling. Preheat the broiler or not, as desired. Place lamb chops on rack of broiling pan, and insert pan in broiler so that the surface of the chops is 2 to 3 inches from the heat. Broil until brown on the upper side, about 6 to 8 minutes.

Season chops with salt and pepper, and turn. Place bacon curls and bananas on broiler rack, brushing the bananas with butter. Continue broiling until chops are nicely browned on the second side and bacon is done, approximately 5 minutes. Season chops. Remove all foods to hot platter, lifting bananas off the rack with a pancake turner and remove toothpicks from the bacon curls. Arrange bananas, topped with bacon curls, between the chops. Garnish with parsley. Serve immediately.

A SIMPLIFIED MENU

When a combination grill is served for the main course, the rest of the menu can be streamlined. A first course or appetizer may be served, but is not essential. An ample plateful of crisp pascal celery might take the place of a salad.

New potatoes are delicious left just as they are in their jackets, scrubbed thoroughly and cooked in a small amount of boiling water. If preferred, they may be peeled and served with parsley butter. Fresh green peas are a good choice to serve with lamb.

When it comes to dessert, something refreshing is in order. An attractive serving of fruit is always in good taste for a summer's dinner and saves extra work for the hostess. Fresh pineapple may be the favorite right now, with a few whole strawberries for garnish. Cookies and coffee are served along with the fruit.

BUTTERSCOTCH WAFERS

1½ cups sifted flour
1½ tsp. baking powder
½ cup shortening
2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed ½ tsp. salt
2 eggs, well beaten
1½ cups chopped nut meats

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Melt shortening, stir in sugar and mix well. Remove from heat and stir in well-beaten eggs. Stir in sifted dry ingredients to which nut meats have been added. Drop by ½ teaspoonfuls on greased baking sheet and bake in slow oven (325 deg. F.) about 15 minutes. Cook slightly, then remove carefully with a thin knife or spatula. If cookies harden on shell, return to the oven for a few minutes. Makes about 9 dozen wafers, 1½ to 2 inches in diameter.

LAMB CHOP GRILL WITH BANANAS AND BACON CURLS

Makes Lipstick Stay On

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

MOST ALL WOMEN use lipstick . . . femininity's first cousin . . . and most all women are terribly annoyed when it smears, smudges and comes off. The lipstick "eaters" have a very special problem all their own to keep their mouth on and straight.

But now comes the answer to the vexation . . . as we knew it was bound to come when the cosmetic chemists set themselves to do something about it. And what emerges? An unusual new cosmetic created for the sole and sensational purpose of keeping your lipstick where it belongs . . . on your lips.

Not a lipstick . . . not a substitute for the lipstick . . . not a lacquer . . . this amazing mouth-beautiful preservative is a clear liquid that acts as a guardian to your lipstick beauty for hours and hours. Frankly your mouth never bloomed until it had the finishing touch of this liquid intensifier.

And we are just as frank to admit that now that we've used it for several weeks . . . we couldn't ever go without it . . . or feel confident that our kissables were completely artifice. It is a postwar beauty aid that merits three cheers and a dozen roses.

After you've applied your favorite lipstick as usual . . . simply brush this liquid over it to make lipstick stay. Then smoke and see your cigaret stay snowy white . . . eat and drink and find that your lipstick stays on your lips . . . not his. Men will cheer it, we know.

HELPFUL TO LIPS

Consumer tests on this product were conducted for over a year before it was marketed. Women with different types of skins and cosmetic preferences used it and reported their every reaction. They found that this lip-stay liquid does not have a tendency to dry the lips . . . but rather leaves them with an added alluring sheen . . . and it is very effective.

You'll find, too, that while your lipstick look ever perfect . . . you aren't aware of anything more than the lipstick on your lips. As you apply it you may notice that certain lipstick shades take on a soft golden hue. But, don't get worried . . . this will disappear as the lip-stay liquid dries and the lipstick shade will return to its original color.

Although it dries to the touch almost immediately . . . allow it to dry about five minutes before you start smoking or eating. And there's no hokus pokus about removing it . . . an ordinary facial tissue will do the trick.

For the name of this amazing new cosmetic to help keep your lipstick from smearing and smudging and make the lips shine, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, daily except the week-end, or write to me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

THE RICH, FULL and provocative mouth plays no small part in the distinctive beauty of Universal-International star Ella Raines . . . who, alert to its beauty, accents it with an enhancing lipstick application. It will be ever beautiful if stroked with an amazing, new cosmetic which keeps lipstick where it belongs . . . on the lips.

Mother Objects to Boy

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I am a girl of 18, in love with a young man of 21. I have been going with him for several months, but have to do it on the sly because my mother thinks 18 is too young to date boys. I feel guilty because I have to meet him that way and have tried to reason with my mother, but she forbids me to even mention the matter again.

This boy realizes the situation I am in and dislikes it as much as I do. He says he loves me and wants to keep on seeing me, but doesn't want me to be caught going out on the sly for fear I might be disowned by my family. I would not want to hurt my mother in any way because I respect her, but I think she is a bit unfair with me. Do you think it would be wrong to continue going out on the sly, or do you think there is any way I might be able to go out with this boy without sneaking out? I am all mixed up. "BETTS."

Dear "Betts": I rather imagine that your mother's attitude may perhaps stem from a very sheltered upbringing that she had herself, and she has not been able to adjust herself to the greater freedom most American boys and girls are given today.

I think it would be too bad if you had to keep on going out secretly with this boy, and I wonder if there isn't some way in which the situation couldn't be adjusted. I think it is probable that if you could talk the matter over with some older woman, in person, she might be able to suggest how you could approach your mother, or she might even be able, in some tactful way, to become personally acquainted with your mother and gradually change her attitude toward your relationships with other young people. Hats Display New Freedom

EILEEN CALLAHAN

A WOMAN'S CROWNING glory these days is her beautiful hat. And the word "hat" as used in the new millinery collections can mean anything that is placed anywhere on or about the head for the purpose of beautifying the wearer.

The new hats express better than any other item in the wardrobe the feeling of freedom that animates the fashion world as it looks up from the restraints that bound it during the war. They are beautiful in a big, important way. Whether they are large and flaring, small and trim, feathered, flowered or veiled, all of the new hats star the woman who wears them with a special grandeur.

The hat sketched today was designed by Laddie Northridge. Its basic shape is nothing more than three circles which cling in tiers to one side of the head. Planted on the circles are hundreds of waving ostrich tips which shade from beige to brown and are tipped with black. The hat gives an effect of ethereal loveliness as the delicate little plumes dance on their wire frames.

Home Garden Forum

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School

Q—Last year I sprayed my beans with arsenate of lead and the leaves turned brown.

A—Arsenate of lead cannot be used on beans as it burns the foliage. Use rotenone or magnesium arsenate. There are a number of prepared bean beetle sprays on the market that can be used.

Q—Is it necessary to paint over branches when they are cut off?

A—Small branches less than one inch in diameter will heal without protection. Paint larger wounds with orange shellac.

Q—The tips of our roses are covered with small green bugs. What is the control?

A—Your roses are infested with aphids. Spray with nicotine sulfate, 1* teaspoons to a gallon of soap flakes. Spray once a week until they are cleaned up.

Q—Is it necessary to tie lettuce up to make it head?

A—No. If you have planted head lettuce and the growing conditions are good, it will head.

Q—I have a package of romaine seed. Will it grow in our garden?

A—Yes. Romaine is a type of lettuce. Does well in this area and resists heat better than other types. The leaf is coarse but the quality is good.

Q—When is the best time of the day to water a garden?

A—Probably the best time is early morning. This gives the foliage a chance to dry off during the day, and prevents disease. Watering can be done at any time with good results.

Smart Set Off to Continent

By BETTY ALDEN
BOSTON MEN AND WOMEN in uniform have been scattered all over the world during the past few summers, but this is the first season their civilian families have traveled to any extent. Europe is the summer address of a number of society people and most are going abroad for a definite purpose such as visiting relatives, business or education.

Under the last category is debutante Linda Cabot, the petite dark haired daughter of the Thomas Cabots of Weston. She has sailed for Europe with the student section of the American Unitarian Service Committee to visit student groups in other countries. She plans to enter Radcliffe in the fall.

Two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Forbes, Henry and Jim, are off to France for further education during their vacation from Harvard. We hear that Col. Ralph Barrows will spend a month in India as an engineering consultant. In the meantime his family will be at their summer home at Peaches Point.

Mrs. Russell Howell of Louisville is flying to England the day before the Fourth on a business and pleasure trip. This will give her a couple of months vacation from the office where she arranges the Debutante Cotillion, the Waltz Parties and other social affairs during the winter season.

Speaking of travelling, Mrs. Edwin S. Webster of Chestnut Hill, a leader in the club's horticultural society, and her sister, Mrs. Henry Harris, are in Minneapolis for the national convention of the Garden Club of America. One of the pleasant social affairs planned for the garden club visitors is at the lovely estate of Mrs. Carl deLaitre on Lake Minnetonka. Mrs. deLaitre is the sister of Mrs. Talbot Aldrich of Boston.

SUSAN HIGGINSON is one of the peppy debutantes on the committee for the al fresco dinner celebrating the opening of the Hotel Somerset's terrace overlooking the Fenway tomorrow evening. The affair benefits Boys' and Girls' Camps, Inc., backed by a group of distinguished Bostonians who provide healthy camp vacations for city boys and girls.

Susan and some of her sister debs, including Janet Beebe, Mary King and Sarah Thorndike, will supervise the sale of an outdoor charcoal broiler to help swell the camp funds. Before dinner most guests will enjoy cocktails at the Hotel Puritan's cool Sky Garden next door where proceeds will

"I was thinkin'..."

by LIZZY ORT

Today I'm poppin' up wid an idea pre heere publico as the Latin usta say wen they wuz sayin'. Dis is a gem of an idea an' Colonel Egan is welcome to take up waze I leave off. Lately, I been lookin' at photos of some of the local ball players an' they ain't lookin' too well an' it's becuz they is stayin' up too late nights. Dis is my notion; namely an' to wit, night baseball games should start no later than 7:30 P. M. so's they kin wind up before ten o'clock an' let the players git home for some rest. Them guys is goin' to go blind playin' under them lights an' they will look funny patrolin' the bases wid seein' eye dogs! Also, an' incidently, it'll give the patrons time to hustle down town to places like my Grille to lap up a little enjoyment before the curfew sounds an' they hafta wander home to their sacks. This would spread the joy aroun' a bit better in my opinion. Generally speakin', night club business jest ain't no more. I'm one of the few exceptions ware they is some life an' pursuit of happines. No, I tot dancin' an' entertainin' percolatin' like grandma's teapot every afternoon as a special inducement to tire'd shoppers from Hough's Neck an' way stations. Nights, I got several excitin' shows, the only admission price is a smile an' desire fer some fun. It's on accounts reasons like that that the gayest, pay afternoon an' night spot in town is Ort's Grille, 25 Essex St. Adv't.

350,000 Clothing Workers To Take Paid Vacations

NEW YORK, June 30 (AP)—Jacob S. Potofsky, president of the CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, said all production throughout the U. S. in the men's clothing industry would be stopped from July 3 to July 11 to permit 150,000 members to have simultaneous paid vacations. Potofsky said an additional 100,000 members of the union in the cotton garment industry and another 100,000 employed in miscellaneous branches of the men's apparel field also would receive paid vacations beginning at various times in the next two weeks.

Dickens at His Best on Screen

By PEGGY DOYLE

For action-filled story-telling at its finest, the British producers have recreated for us Charles Dickens' novel, "Great Expectations," as richly rewarding an experience as was their previous "Henry V."

With the magnificent ineptness, "Great Expectations" was hustled into Keith Memorial Theater last week with an absence of exploitation at complete odds with the Kohnor qualities of this triumph of production.

Compressed in this two-hour unrolling is all the thrill of the story of little Pip, the orphan boy who is strangely provided with the means of becoming a gentleman and who experiences the oddest adventures and the weirdest romance.

As might . . . in fact, indubitably would . . . have happened in Hollywood, no attempt has been made to rewrite Dickens to current dimensions. All the power, imagination, compassion and indignation with the cruelties of his times are contained in this English cinematic version of Dickens' world-beloved "Great Expectations."

As boy and man, Pip, played by Anthony Wager and John Mills, respectively, is a full-bodied character. His preoccupation with becoming a gentleman is jolted by the abrupt discovery that the convict he befriended as a lad is his benefactor. Dickens' own flamboyant display of riches, in the way of gay waistcoats and gold rings, and chains worn in vulgar proof that he was no longer poor, are reflected in this instance. So, too, subsequently is revealed his own good heart when Pip is shown to have risked his life to secretly get the convict out of England and a hangman's noose.

It is solid, faithful Joe Gargery's influence that restores the 19th century gentleman Pip has become to his senses. Joe, Pip's loving blacksmith friend, is played by Bernard Miles precisely as the master has created him.

So, too, are all these richly human folk in "Great Expectations" that the observant and warmly sympathetic Dickens has preserved for us out of those distant, absorbing times that offered so much more and so much less than does this atomic age.

Old Magwitch, the convict, who crystallizes all the inhumanity of English law enforcement at the time, is brilliantly conceived by Finlay Currie. Jaggers, the lawyer who has a good if definitely larcenous heart throbbing in that greatly upholstered skeleton, is played right out of Dickens by Francis L. Sullivan. Valeria Hobson's coquettish Estella is strangely appealing if diabolically kind.

In a word, whatever your expectations Cineguild's "Great Expectations" is certain to exceed them, for this Uni-Int'l release is an incomparable screen achievement in all departments.

Dobson vs. Shea At Fens Tonight; Hose Hopes Dim

By HERB FINNEGAN

Joe Cronin

There was hitting as well as pitching on Joe Cronin's mind today as his Red Sox rested for their moonlight sail with the league-leading Yankees. Joe Dobson, sore arm and all, will start tonight's game against that spectacular rookie from Naugatuck, Ct., Frank Shea, who boasts a 9-2 record. But even when "Curley Joe" wasn't troubled with a sore arm, the Earl of Johnson relieved him so often he was dubbed "Dob-John."

With Harris and Hughson on the shelf, with relief pitchers essaying starting roles unsuccessfully, the outlook is drear on the firing line. After the twin defeats in Philly Sunday, 3-2 and 6-5, the Sox are 4 games behind those Yanks; so it is drear in the pennant race.

It's just as drear in the batting department. The Sox have lorded it over all their rivals at the plate since Cronin's advent in Boston in '35. Vosmik, Chapman, Cramer, Fox, Johnson, Higgins, Tabor, Williams, Doerr, Cronin himself, —all could stroke the ball with authority.

Even last year as the Sox raced to the league championship they took charge at the plate. They led with .271. This year's team, with Williams, Pesky, DiMaggio, Doerr still around, is averaging only .242.

Mele was the early season rage—was right up to June 22 when he was hitting .327. Doerr wasn't hitting, and Cronin didn't dare put the load on newcomer Jones so he said: "Mele looks like the man to bat behind Williams." So Mele was promoted to the No. 4 spot, formerly held by Fox and Cronin, and what happened?

Mele immediately went into a tailspin. Until he was lifted for pinch-hitter Ferriss in Sunday's second game in Philadelphia, Mele had gone hitless in 17 straight trips to the plate. More, since he was elevated to the No. 4 spot on June 22, he had made only four hits in 34 ABs, all singles, a puny .118 pace.

So today, instead of being among the five leading hitters as he was a month ago, and being hailed as the rookie of the year, Mele was down to .274 and suffering from the humiliation of having a pitcher hit for the clean-up man.

"Never happened in history before," was the press box consensus.

How will Mele take it? He's the worrying type. It may break his back, shadow his future. Bench jockeys never will let him up.

Doerr has been little better than Mele. In the same span that Mele hit .118, Doerr has made six hits in 36 for .166 and has only six RBI. A fellow in "Murderer's Row" ought to do better, especially one who had 116 RBI last year.

How about Jones, who had seven RBI in a double-header with the White Sox the first day he donned Red Sox flannels? Mr. Jones hasn't been the same hitter on the road he was at Fenway Park. He made only one infield hit in three games with the Senators, and when he went hitless in three trips in Sunday's first game, boosting his total to "0 for 13" Cronin lifted him for pinch-hitter Russell. Jones has slumped to .242.

The Foxes, the Gehrigs, the Yorks never were lifted for pinch-hitters, and it came as no surprise that Cronin was all ears when a Philadelphia writer was extolling the virtues of rookie Dick Adams, substitute first baseman for the A's who filled in while Ferriss Fain was on the hospital list.

Adams, like the late Hal Chase, throws left-handed and bats right-handed. Cronin saw him homer into the second deck against the Sox earlier in the spring and evinced interest. He was all ears when the Philly writer said: "I'd take him over Fain right now despite his inexperience."

Adams is a brother of the Reds' infielder. He batted .330 for Wenatchee of the Western International League last year, had 37 homers and 155 RBI. Now Wenatchee is no triple-A club, but Adams had shown definite possibilities with the A's, is only 26, and the fact he conducts his own orchestra during the winter season shouldn't be held against him.

The Sox must add strength if they are to cope with the Yanks. "They're chesky," said the A's who had just finished a three-game series with the Yanks before the Sox moved in. "Henrich is hitting, and Stirnweiss is hitting. They act like champs and play like champs. It's up to the Sox to hold them or they'll make a run-away of the race."

"We've had pretty good luck with them," the A's spokesman continued. "We've beaten 'em four times in nine games, but you've only won three in 10. Yet, we can't win the flag, haven't got the reserves. If anything happened to Joost, we'd sink in a moment."

"No, it's the Sox and Yanks, and unless you fellows show a little spunk you'll sink, too."

"I honestly think the poor showing you made in the World Series wrecked your club, but even before that you lost six straight when you needed only one win to clinch the pennant. That isn't the mark of a champion."

All around the circuit belief seems to be the Red Sox won't catch the Yanks. Wouldn't you think the Sox would get so mad they'd rip the Yanks to shreds, instead of losing four straight as they did in New York last month, instead of dropping two of three games to Washington and a Sunday double-header to the A's.

Braves Take Southworth's Counsel and Reach Peak

By BILL GRIMES

During the pre-game meeting yesterday, Mgr. Billy Southworth stressed the importance of beating the weaker clubs in the league, such as the Phillies and the Pirates. Then, he devoted a few minutes of oratory to the double-header the Braves handed the Blue Jays last April in Philadelphia.

Brass Band Missing as Sox Arrive

The SOX flew home from Philadelphia in one hour and 24 minutes, but there was no brass band to greet them, not even a photographer. They just slinked in as if they were no relation to the boys who raced to the league championship a year ago.

FIRST GAME—A's 3, Sox 2—Ferriss loses seventh game. . . Three home runs in game. Moses in first, Chapman's in second, Suder's in sixth. . . Suder's his first of the season, was the clincher. . . Ferriss saved himself a run in the second when he stabbed Majeski's hot shot, headed for center field. Rosar was on second at time. . . Fain made a lunging stab of Tebbetts' liner to rob him of a single. Next time up Tebbetts' single scored Doerr to give Sox 2-1 lead. But Joost's triple, on which Mele missed a shoe-string catch, and a Ferriss wild pitch tied it up. . . Suder's homer did the rest. . . Five of the seven hits made off Ferriss were for extra bases. . . He held McCosky hitless for the first time in 14 games. . . Marchildon didn't allow a hit in the last five innings. . . Until he walked Pesky in the eighth, he had retired 11 men in order.

SECOND GAME—A's 6, Sox 5—Williams homered with Pesky aboard in the fifth. It was No. 13, his first since June 4. Last year he hit 11 in the month of June. . . The homer gave the Sox a 4-0 lead but they blew it. Zuber started it with five walks, but Klinger was the main culprit. Fain hitting a homer through the tumbling Mele with the bases loaded off him. . . Ferriss put the Sox even in the seventh when he pinch-singled for Mele, but the A's came right back to score a run off Dorris (loser) and A's finisher Joe Coleman of Arlington got credit for the victory.

A's now have won as many games from the Sox (five) as they did all last year. . . Doubleheader drew 29,112. A's are recapturing popularity in Philly. Friday night, they drew 38,000 with the Yanks.

Bula Cards 'Gansett Holiday Stake 75 in Britain

LIVERPOOL, Eng., June 30 (INS) — Johnny Bula, Phoenix, Ariz., pro, slipped to 15 today in the opening of qualifying play for the British open golf championship.

Bula was in that section of the field which played today on the tough Hoylake course—scene of the championship proper starting Wednesday—and tomorrow will play his second round on the Arrow Park links.

Although the weather was favorable, scores soared all along the line and many cards above 80 were turned in by the more than 250 more players seeking the title which Sam Snead won last year and is letting go by default.

S Sgt. Charles Jennings of Medford, N. J., who is with the American Army in Germany, shot a 76 at Holyake.

He played a reasonably good 36 out, but took a seven on the 10th hole and came home in 40.

In contrast to the high scores shot by the first Americans to finish, Bert Gada, of Great Britain, fired a spectacular 66 for a new course record at Arrows Park.

Frank Stranahan, of Toledo, O., who helped the United States regain the Walker Cup and then competed unsuccessfully in the recent British amateur, shot a 73 at Arrows Park.

Stranahan went out in 36 and came home in 37 after taking a six on the 14th.

Schoolboy Hurler Signed by Sox

Charlie Stobbs, Jr., 17-year-old left-handed pitcher, of Norfolk, Va., was awarded a contract today by the Red Sox to play for their Lynn farm club.

The 175-pound youngster, who will be 18 Wednesday, was graduated from Granby High in Norfolk this month. He was an all-state interscholastic football, basketball and baseball star.

Stobbs was snatched by the Sox after he pitched a one-hitter last week in a Northern League game. Seven other big league clubs had sought to hire him.

He will be known as a "bonus player," which means that if he is not signed by the Sox next year he will be included in the baseball draft. The exact bonus which Stobbs received has not been announced, but it is a considerable sum.

Sam Breadon of Cards Takes on an Assistant

ST. LOUIS (INS)—Sam Breadon, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, said that he plans to turn the detail work in connection with the club over to William Walsingham, Jr., the "assistant to the president."

Breadon emphasized, however, that he plans to retain active control of the club. He is 71 years old.

HOW THE STARS DID

(By the Associated Press.)
JACKIE ROBINSON, Dodgers—Singled in ninth inning for his only hit in four times at bat in first game, but it drove in tying run. He stole second and scored winning run on Arky Vaughan's pinch single as Dodgers nipped the Giants 4-3; Robinson got four hits in five times at bat in the second game to extend his hitting streak to 16 straight games. He stole his 12th and 13th bases.

HANK GREENBERG, Pirates—Drove in a run with a single and walked in three times at bat before giving way to Elbie Fletcher at first after six innings as the Pirates whipped the Cubs 10-4.

JOE DIMAGGIO, Yankees—Held hitless in four times at bat as the Senators defeated the Yankees in the opener 5-1, but scored lone Yankee run; he singled and walked in four times up in the second game as Yankees won 3-1.

By DAVE WILSON
NARRAGANSETT PARK, June 30—The 2-year-olds finally get their first break of the New England racing season as Narragansett moves into the final week of its early meeting.

On July 4, the Narragansett Nursery will be run and local turf followers will finally get their first peak at some pretty fair youngsters. So enthusiastically has this race been accepted that there are 30 entries and there is every chance that the stake may be run in two divisions. Ray Metcalf's pride, Fly Away, will be one of the contenders.

This youngster shaped up as a standout in Florida last winter and in his lone New England start at Suffolk against cheap opposition, he went at 3 to 10 and just toyed with his field. Friday, Fly Away should really be tested over five and one-half furlongs for there is every indication that Mrs. M. E. Whitney's Singing Bird, Lazy F, Raneck's Summer's Run and Tally, William Heile's Windy, and one or two others will ship in for this event.

The only good local two-year-old not entered is Irving Gushen's Andy's Glory which is being rested up for late summer racing. Following this race Friday, there will be two crack races on closing day, next Saturday—the $25,000 Providence Stakes for three-year-olds over one mile and a sixteenth and the $10,000 Bristol Handicap, a sprint for three-year-olds up.

The $25,000 races seems nicely set up for Mel Eppley, the best three-year-old on the grounds, will pit his speed against older horses in the sprint. A week ago last Saturday, Mel Eppley ran a bangup second in the big sprint after being pinched back on the rail.

There are 56 nominations for the Providence Stakes and many top-flight outsiders entered, such as Marlet Stables' Royals Lever, Harco Stables' Atomic Power and Mrs. M. E. Whitney's Bullet Proof.

Another formless day like yesterday and the "choik" players will be wearing cigar boxes for shoes and paper cups for hats. The floundering jumper failed to grasp a lifeline when they sent Mel Van Orman post-wards in the fourth event at two—a fast-fading third after forcing the pace until 50 yards from the wire.

The stewards assessed Georgie Hettinger $100 for tossing a right hook in the general direction of Apprentice Mullins in the jockey quarters after the running of Saturday's fourth race. The brightest spot of current racing at 'Gansett is the sensational riding of Jockey Fernando Fernandez. The gay caballero from down May-he-ro way stole the show on Saturday when he piloted four out of five mounts in the winner's circle to supplant Apprentice A. Petrin as the leading rider of the current meeting. Fernandez has now piloted 21 winners and leads Petrin by two victories, a remarkable feat considering that he missed the first full week of racing at 'Gansett.

Trainer Eddie Summers reports that Valinda Punch, which pulled up lame after winning Friday's second race, was cut above the hoof and that the injury was not serious to keep the one-time stake star sidelined for long. . . . Trainer Ray Metcalf is working the Oran Lodge Stable's Fly Away at week hours in the morning. . . . C. V. Whitney's Kyber Pass is regarded as a definite starter in the Providence Stakes.

KING CLANCY RECOVERING
OTTAWA, June 29 (AP)—Frank (King) Clancy, chief National Hockey League referee and one-time defense star for Toronto, was reported "out of danger" in a hospital tonight after an attack of double pneumonia which sent his temperature to 105 degrees.

Kramer Wins Over Aussie

LONDON, June 30 (AP)—Jack Kramer of Los Angeles, regarded as the current top man in world amateur tennis, rolled into the semifinals of the Wimbledon tennis tourney today with a quick 6-0, 6-1, 6-3 triumph over Geoff Brown of Australia.

The match was played on the famed center court and the triumph gave the Americans another edge in the undecided war between the U. S. team and the Australians. The tense feeling developed from the 5-0 shattering of the U. S. gave the Aussies in the Davis Cup matches last December.

On Saturday unseeded Budget Patty of Los Angeles, spilled John Bromwich of Australia, seeded No. 2 here, in the tourney's biggest upset to date.

The Australians squared their personal rivalry with the U. S. squad when Dinny Pails, the Australian champion, eliminated Lanky Bob Falkenberg of Los Angeles, 4-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-0, 6-2.

Falkenberg, playing in a pair of new shoes, grabbed the first two sets but then bowed before the all-court play of Pails. The crowd boored the Californian in the fourth set when Pails romped to a love victory with very little opposition.

Patty, although he limped from a pulled thigh muscle suffered in his Saturday conquest of Bromwich, continued his giant role, by eliminating Jaroslav Drobny of Czechoslovakia, 4-6, 6-4, 7-9, 6-2, 6-3. Drobny is the player who virtually single handed brought the Czech team to final round of the European Davis Cup competitions.

Paris Grand Prix Goes to Outsider

PARIS (AP)—Avenger, a rank outsider owned by Prince Ali Khan, won the Grand Prix de Paris for 3-year-olds at Long-champs yesterday and paid his backers 33 to 1 as Pearl Diver, winner of the English Derby, finished out of the money.

Ridden by a British jockey, C. Smirke, the 3-year-old chestnut stallion, defeated Tournament, owned by Baron Godfrey Waldner, and Giaraf, owned by Marcel Bouscass.

Raynham Set For Schooling Races Tonight

There will be 16 official schooling races at Raynham Park tonight in preparation for the eighth season of greyhound racing under the auspices of the Massachusetts Greyhound Ass'n. Tomorrow night there will be 17 races and on the following nights several more. There will be no schoolings on the night of July 4, nor will there be any on the night of July 10, the eve of the opening.

The first race tonight will be run in close proximity to 7 o'clock with the others following quite rapidly. After the first 11 boxes have been run out there will be a halt while the remaining four boxes are weighed in.

The 14th race will be Bob Bell, Bill Ewalt's sensational young greyhound in action. This one rounded the future course in 28.4 in an unofficial test last Friday Miss Ward. Ward Ready Hook and Hooker of the Mrs. G. M. Lille string will be making their New England seasonal debut in the tests tonight.

General Mgr. Murray, of the Massasoit Greyhound Ass'n extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend these schoolings. And, furthermore, he will allow children to witness these races but during the regular Raynham Park season, after July 11, children will not be admitted to the grounds.

Braves Field Next For Hearst Sandlot Play

By JACK CONWAY, JR.

Braves Field, Boston, on Tuesday, July 8, and Fall River, on Thursday, July 10, are the next two sites for Sandlot trials in the Record-American Sunday Advertiser Sandlot baseball tournament. The tryouts at Braves Field will be the sixth in the series of 10 New England championship events.

Already 12 ball players have been selected from the first five tryouts. The most recent acquisitions to the Hearst sandlot squad which will play the N. E. title game at Fenway Park on July 29 are: Harry Agganis, John Rubinowski, Burt Freeman and Charlie Radstock. All were selected by Mike Ryba in trials held at Fraser Field, Lynn.

John Quinn, the general manager of the Boston Braves, will act in a supervisory capacity for the Hearst trials at the Teepee. This session at Braves Field promises to be the most lively of the entire tournament.

Last year there were 300 ball players at the tournament at Braves Field. Rev. George M. Dowd, CVO director and a member of the Hearst Boston Sandlot board, is confident that the sandlotters, especially those of the CVO organization, will equal last year's figure.

The seven-day trip to New York city for the Hearst National Sandlot final is shaping up fine. Rabbit Marranville, New York sandlot director, has made extensive arrangements to give the visiting New England delegates (two of them) the best in baseball entertainment.

The two N. E. winners, selected from the Fenway Park final, will practice one morning at Ebbetts Field, another at Yankee Stadium and a third at the Polo Grounds. The national championship game will be played under the arc lights at the Polo Grounds. Babe Ruth is the national director of this Hearst enterprise.

Randolph May Use Great Army Backs

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 30 (AP)—Doc Blanchard and Arnold Tucker, Army's great backs, may cavort for Randolph Field next fall.

Blanchard, the All-America fullback—"Mr. Inside" of the Blanchard-Glenn Davis combination at West Point—already is at Randolph. Tucker and James Enos, Army center, will take qualifying tests for student officer pilot training here Aug. 2.

"Wingspread," the Randolph Field publication, reported that the three would be at the Field this fall but that duties might keep them from playing football.

Bass Fishermen Happy As Season Swings Open

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Many New England anglers mark July 1 on their calendars just as plainly as April 15 and May 1, for tomorrow signals the opening of the small and large mouthed bass fishing season in most lakes and ponds. Experts will agree that the black bass can provide action aplenty while everyone knows that this species is fine eating.

The Colonial Baseball League starts another week with Bridgeport and Port Chester tied for the cellar position and President Ken Strong announcing he has called a meeting for Wednesday at Stamford to talk over routine matters.

Percentage-wise Bridgeport gained a few points in its cellar position Sunday by defeating New London 3-2 in a fairly free hitting contest.

Boston Park League Begins New Tote Stretch Drive for Play-offs For Suffolk

The Boston Park League begins the stretch drive for playoffs berths tonight when all 16 clubs will be engaged in eight battles throughout the Hub, from East Boston to Roslindale. As the ninth week opens, Boston Giants and the Linehans of Southie are locked in a first-place tie in the West Division, and each will be bidding for sole possession tonight, against top opponents.

Bill Benson sends the Linehans against his arch-rival, of many years of Park pennant fights, the Dick Casey Club at Dorchester Town Field. Boston Giants, upset by Hal Crosby on Friday at Fens, will have to fared Will Jackman, at 52 still the best twicker in these parts, on the rubber at Carver when the Artesiani, led by leading homer-hitter Gene Lovett, pay a visit.

Walsh Legion Post fought its way out of the East's cellar last week, and tonight will test the '46 champ, Vets Administration, at Cleveland Circle. The Vets have been off form this year, but with a few more pitchers will be in the pennant fight, and last year at this point, the VA began its drive from the cellar, to the title, in its first year in the circuit.

The sensational drive of Hyde Square V.F.W. in which Dave Campbell's young club knocked off the Caseys and Giants twice, to threaten West Roxbury and Artesiani for the league-leading leadership, was cut short with two upset losses last week.

At the same time, Brookline Sign, bolstered by college and N. E. League players Falwell, Kelliher, Caprio, Charlier and Horne began to clout opposition pitching after night to pass Hyde Square and land in fourth place, and a playoffs spot, in the East division. The Signers make a home stand at Eustis tonight against Owens, and the expected hurling duel will involve Frankie Foley and Brookline's Feller-like fast-ball, Art Carmen.

Local rivalry will be felt at Fallon Field where powerful West Roxbury, whose lineup is a composite of H. C. and B. C. players, stacks up against Roslindale Royals, and Parkway fandom will see either of Harvard's two top hurlers of the past season, Brendan Reilly or Billy Connolly, on the West Roxbury rubber.

Nashua Wins Loose Game From Portland

PORTLAND, Me. (AP)—Lou Richter's third inning home run with three Nashua Dodgers teammates on base sparked the Dodgers to victory, 13-10, over the Portland Pilots in a New England slugfest that saw nine two-baggers clouted.

NEW ENGLAND RACING WAR MAY DEVELOP

If Lincoln Downs with its $1000 racing can cut into the patronage at Suffolk Downs and Rockingham Park in these days of rapidly dwindling mutual handles so as to endanger their financial success this year will be mild compared to the 1948 program. It would not be surprising to see Massachusetts and New Hampshire lined up solidly with a racing program against the two Rhode Island tracks, Narragansett Park and Lincoln Downs.

This would eventually start a rapid decline in the quality of owners, trainers, riders and thoroughbreds and New England racing would become definitely half mile racing. WILSON.

Giants With 52,142 Outdraw All Teams

NEW YORK, June 29 (AP)—Led by the turnout of 52,142 which witnessed the battle between the interborough rivals, New York and Brooklyn, the major leagues attracted a total of 263,913 cash customers to their six double-headers and two single games.

Despite the huge Polo Grounds crowd, the American League topped the National 136,039 to 127,874.

Hearst Junior Golf Play Gets Underway at Pawtucket C. C.

Young golfers from three states will tee off today at the Pawtucket (R. I.) Country Club as the Hearst New England Junior Championship qualifying tests start.

The second qualifying round is scheduled for Wednesday at the South Shore Country Club.

There will be four medal play tests starting in R. I. today to qualify for the New England match play finals at Woodland, beginning July 21, and then a California trip for the grand national finals. Youngsters from Rhode Island, Connecticut and southern Massachusetts play today.

Merrimack Valley C. C. will be the scene July 7, and the final test at Wachusett C. C., July 21, rounds out the schedule.

The R. I. course, where the tourney will get under way this morning, is one of the best in New England. Par for the beautiful layout is 68.

These qualifying tests are open to New England youngsters who have not yet reached their 19th birthday. All that is needed is to fill out the entry blank.

There is still time for those in Rhodey who have not yet forwarded entries and wish to enter. Just be on hand at 8:30 a. m. today and present the entry.

The winners will travel to the West Coast with all expenses paid.

Crash

A Fresno, Cal., truck driver, Robert B. Felix (arrow), was killed near San Francisco when his heavily laden produce truck crashed into the side of a locomotive. The impact was so great it rammed a huge dent in the side of the engine and sent fruits and vegetables flying over a large area.
